Is the Newchwang correspondent of the Shanghai Courier has reliable information. the late prohibitory edict against the cultivation of the poppy in Manchuria was only a farce. The import of Indian opium is stated to be less by one half than it was for the same period last year and the opinion is expressed that the production of the native drug will be larger than ever. If this should turn out to be a truthful prediction it will be an unmistakeable proof that the Imperial decrees levelled against the cultivation of the poppy in China are mere words. It, will be remembered, doubtless, that some to wit, one serew auger, one pod anger, a pair of months back the Taotai of Newchwang petitioned the Emperor to put a stop to the with being in unlawful possession of five Chinese who thought him too much of an "alarmist," culture of opium in Shingking on the ground | jackets. that it interfered with tho trade in and revenue derivable from the imported drug. WE gather from the mutilated telegram of the 6th instant that the Austrian occupation has been resisted in Herzegovina. The people of Mostar, the capital of the province and a fortified town, appear to have opposed the passage of the Austrian troops over the bridge which there crosses the river Narenta. The town is small, containing less 150,000 guilders more in the possessions beyond for England. A rumour has got affort that his and its promised wealth of happy days. There employ seven. The members of the firm were forthwith invited to visit. Washington, and to explain to the Commissioner the long sought art. To day Messrs Owen A Gill and M. G. Gill, of the firm of Martin Gillett & Co., put in an appearance at the Agricultural Department, and were warmly welcomed by Commissioner Le Duc. They proceeded to the Laboratory of the Agricultural Department, and in presence of the Commissioner, the chemist of the Department, representatives of the press, and a number of invited guests, they went through the process of making ten from the raw leaves of the plant. The material furnished them was not of the most promising kind. The plants had been raised from seed sown in one of the conservatories of the Agricultural Department, and wore-only. about six months old. They scarcely exceeded five inches in length, and not many of them had more than two leaves on the stalk. In China the plants are not interfered with until they are two years old, and have grown to be two or three feet in height. Each plant then yields

The leaves were stripped from the little hot house plants by the ladies who were in the party of spectators, who handed to the Messrs. Gill who put them through the tea-making process, and in something less than two hours reduce them to the semblance of the tea that is sold in the grocery stores. The chemist of the Department tested the prepared leaves and found them to contain more theirs than the Chinese teas of commerce. After this a portion of the produce of the curing process was consigned to a teapot, and soon the whole company was regaled. with a beverage which but few of those present had ever tasted before-namely, tea made from the fresh leaves of the plant. It cannot be too often repeated that by their wild vapourings the Russophil politicians of England have done the cause of European peace incalculable harm. For the past two years the Russian newspapers have been filled with extracts from the English press, cunningly selected with a view to prove that the mass of English opinion was on the side of the Czar and Mr. Gladstone and of course an interdict was laid on all those journals whose articles would have told a different story. THE COST OF CUBAN REVOLUTIONS.

The Caban revolution seems really to have come to an end. In the Havannah Cathedral Te Deums have been sung for the pacification, and there have been great festivities in Santingo de Cuba. Its population has been exceedingly discontented for a much longer period. Its geographical position cannot be changed by any political event. The same feeling which led th United States in 1868 to offer 100,000,000 dollars for Cubs still exists, and, in spite of the vigilance of the American Government, may provoke other and unlawful invasions. It is only 25 years since the Ostend manifesto declared that the island ought to belong to the United States. Since 1849 there has been a series of Cuban conspira cies, every one of which resulted in failure more or less rapid. There was the memorable fiasco of 1851, which cost the adventurer Narciss

THE HERRING.

A fact of very great biological importance has occurred this year in the return of the above-

A hundred years ago no industry of that country was so prominent as that connected with the fisheries, more than a million barrels of herrings being preserved ananally, involving the employment of a large portion of the population in their capture and preparation. Enormous establishments, scattered along the coast and on which a vast amount of ON capital had been invested have long been aban- On Shanghat,doned and are in ruins. Should the promise on the wing with a rifle, and subsequently became of this year be continued, the probability so expert at shooting that the Dakotas regarded is that the former prosperity will be fully restored. Man discovers the shoal, and comes with his nets and captures millions. But those combined enemies are incorable of making more than a slight impression on the immense numbers. Then, what could have in Hongkong, Canton, and Macao Steamboat Co.'s

A special commission, consisting of Professors Sars and Smitt, has been appointed by the King of Sweden to consider the whole subject. The change of location seems to have taken place at the expense of the coasts of Norway, which, for the first time in many years has not been this year visited by the herring. - Galig-

He and Africa, such as the various rubber trees; and. thanks to the invaluable help of the staff of Kew Gardens and its colonial allies, the attempt seems likely to succeed. I shall not dwell upon the important results that may be expected to accrue from such experiments. To bring the horse to the water is one thing, says an Arab proverb, while to make him drink is another thing. From much experience in tropical countries the chief difficulty has always seemed to me to get the interesting strangers planted on a sufficiently large scale to give to their products a commercial those dram shops which are so numerous in the importance. You may succeed with plants that give a return in a few years, like Coffee. Tea. Cocca, Cinchona, Cocca, Palm but the difficulty is increased enormously with the length of the

> In hot climates, however healthy, no emigrant nattles with the idea of making the place his home. He comes to make his fortune as soon as possible, the sooner the better, when he can return to his native land. A little cambling excitement, resulting from the uncertainty of the crops, and the fluctuations of the produce market keeps up his spirits. But abroad no man can afford to embark his small capital in a venture that cannot possibly bring him a return ofore thirty or forty years—quite a lifetime So Government must step in for the benefit of the community. Government alone can afford to plant trees, either for timber, or for rubber. gutta-percha, gum, and what not else, and, after having made the planting outlay, pay for the supervision during the unproductive period of growth. Unlackily forest clearing, to make room for the new trees, is always a very costly affair, and in the nature of things Government would certainly have to pay more for it than private enterprise, however well the work might be conducted. Besides, for two years at least. there would be a necessity to employ expensive labour to check the natural growth of the forest. or the newly planted trees would soon be oboked When I visited the Straits Settlements I woudered at the enormous amount of clearings made by the Chinese emigrants for their Gambier gardens, which, after a period of seven to ten of the British Gavernment in dealing with a most earnest sympathizers on this deplorable hours detention.
